LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Philabundance's fiscal year 2015 was a successful one. I am extraordinarily proud of the impact we had on hunger, collectively, thanks to all our volunteers, partners, donors, board and member agencies. We are also grateful to YOU for your support.

In 2015, Philabundance served more than 90,000 people each week through our direct service programs, as well as through approximately 350 agencies in our nine-county service area. Thirty percent of the people we serve are children and fifteen percent are seniors. Although hard to grasp, these statistics are the facts in our area.

Through your generous support last year, Philabundance provided 22 million meals to our neighbors facing hunger.

More than 17,000 volunteers worked 45,000 hours, saving Philabundance nearly $1.5 million which we were able to put back into feeding the community. Volunteers helped sort product, glean farm produce, complete office work, assist in direct service programs and provide professional resources in so many areas. Thank all of you for your time and support.

In its second year of operation, our nonprofit grocery store in Chester, Fare & Square, served almost 160,000 customers in a former food desert. It continues to receive local and national attention as an innovative program working with the Chester community and local donors to deliver food, provide jobs and serve as a community center.

None of this would be possible without the hard work of approximately 150 staff members, including our drivers who spent 375 hours a week on the road picking up and delivering food near and far, ranging from as close as Fresh For All in Camden and KidsBites at Lowell school in Philadelphia to as far as agencies in Chester, Bucks and Salem counties. Hunger hits every zip code in our service area. And that's where our drivers deliver — to all those in need.

Collaboration was king. Building partnerships with like-minded organizations such as SHARE, Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger and Project HOME during the historic Papal Visit, The Food Trust on healthy shopping, cooking classes at Fare & Square and the Food Bank of South Jersey on shared territory efforts has allowed us to make a bigger impact in the communities we serve. If we're going to end hunger, we have to do it together. We can't do it alone!

Last year marked an astonishing 30 years of hard, but important work. And our Beet Hunger Bash in November 2014 not only celebrated three decades of Philabundance, but it allowed us to honor our founder and current Board member, Pamela Rainey Lawler, and her vision to drive hunger from our communities.

But despite all we do, there are approximately 750,000 people in our area who face hunger. So while we're making great strides, we still need to do more.

We hope you'll continue to support us as we work to accomplish our mission to drive hunger from our communities today and end hunger forever.

Thank YOU for making last year an impactful one. I can't wait to see how much more we collectively accomplish in the coming year.

Best,

Glenn S. Bergman, Executive Director

LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

As the Board Chair for the past three years, I have witnessed the true impact of what each of you brings to Philabundance. Whether you are a donor, volunteer, staff member or partner, you play an integral part in providing food to our neighbors who don't always know where they will find their next meal — or if they will even have one. Thank you for believing in our mission and for being involved, and my deepest gratitude for dedicating your valuable time and resources to improving the lives of people in our community.

During the time I have served on the Board, I have seen many surprising and encouraging moments, such as clients giving to other clients by volunteering, kids donating the change in their piggy banks to help other kids facing hunger, and am very proud of the work we have collectively accomplished.

I am also proud of the impact that Fare & Square, the nation's first nonprofit grocery store, located in the city of Chester, has had in an area which was designated as a food desert prior to its arrival. I have been inspired by the positive impact I have seen in the nine counties Philabundance serves in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. I am also excited about our growing partnerships and collaborations with other hunger relief organizations in the area. By working together, we can tackle hunger deeply and holistically — the only way we will one day end hunger forever.

We can't stop now. Hunger in America is more dire than ever; Across the country, one in seven people faces hunger. In our area that statistic is a staggering one in four. I joined the Board because I heard these statistics, understood the gravity, and realized that I could not stand by and watch our neighbors go hungry. We have to keep working, and we will, to make sure that no one goes to bed with an empty stomach.

We couldn't do any of it without you. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Murvin Lackey, Chairman of the Board

PHILABUNDANCE'S STRATEGIC PLAN

Scaling Impact

At the beginning of fiscal year 2015, Philabundance released its long-term strategic plan to help guide the organization to make an even greater impact. To realize freedom from hunger, four “pillars” were established:

- Relieve Hunger Now: Foster secure and sustainable hunger relief for everyone in the Delaware Valley through greater collaboration at the community level
- End Hunger Forever: Leverage our strengths to convene and build communities of interest that inspire, foster and enact an end to hunger
- Grow Capacity: Strengthen an organization that has the ability to handle immediate tasks, to innovate new ideas, and to scale responsibly
- Sustain Growth: Build a development engine that yields abundant food, funding and relationships to support and enhance our mission

Over the year we used a collaborative approach, aligning the leadership team and engaging the staff and Board, to build strategies for realizing our mission.

Philabundance worked with SHARE, the Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger, Project HOME and other like-minded hunger relief organizations on a fundraiser related to the Papal visit in September 2015.

Our Core Values

To drive hunger from our communities and to end hunger forever, we must:

- Understand barriers to food security in our area
- Partner in innovative, scalable and replicable food access programs that meet the need at every level
- Maximize relationships and empower communities
- Create coalitions that work together to ensure food access
- Join communities that understand the connection between lack of food access and other societal issues and promote finding solutions
- Build a movement dedicated to raising awareness of the prevalence of hunger and that encourages others to take action

Once we accomplish this, we will have collectively driven hunger from our communities!

TRUST We operate transparently to earn the confidence of our fellow colleagues and are grateful for the trust placed in us by those we serve and those who support us. We have the courage and faith to communicate fully and honestly and follow through.
We model mutual trust

IMPACT We appreciate the enormity of the challenge ahead and value the work required to make freedom from hunger a reality. Through consistent and intentional service, we will positively transform our communities alongside of our partners.
We seek lasting results

INNOVATION In response to the complexity and changing faces of hunger, we strive to be a creative leader developing widespread solutions. We resist complacency by remaining agile and adaptable in our fight to drive hunger from our communities both now and forever.
We embrace creative solutions

RESPECT We are accountable for our actions both internally and among our external stakeholders. We admit our faults. We listen to each other and show our gratitude for the efforts and dedication required from ALL members of our collective community.
We recognize each other

COLLABORATION As a community of diverse ideas and experiences we realize that lasting solutions require an inclusive approach. We need fellow hunger relief allies, donors, community members and organizations; only together are we a force that can end hunger.
We can't do it alone

FISCAL YEAR 2015 PROGRAMS

CSFP

The Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) provided USDA-donated food to approximately 7,500 low-income seniors every month. Fifteen percent of all those Philabundance serves are seniors.

Alustus, a CSFP recipient and Fare & Square shopper, said his senior box “makes a big difference” in his ability to feed his family.

Fare & Square

Since opening in 2013, Fare & Square, the nation’s only nonprofit grocery store of its kind, has brought much-needed resources to the community. Through partnerships that provide Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) assistance, free health screenings and healthy shopping classes, Fare & Square is making a big impact locally. The first grocery store in over a decade in what was formerly a “food desert” is helping keep Chester residents healthy.

Beverly shops at Fare & Square every other day: “I appreciate Fare & Square being here because we haven’t had a market in Chester in over 12 years.”

Fresh For All

Philabundance offers “farmer’s markets” with free, fresh produce and other food at eight neighborhood locations every week in Pennsylvania and South Jersey. These weekly distributions provide more than 1.3 million pounds of food to 22,000 people annually.

Rhonda, 65, retired three years ago and Social Security is her only income. She is grateful for Fresh For All in Edgewater Park: “This month was especially tough because I had trouble with the car and some other expenses. Thank goodness that it’s available.”

Gleaning

Gleaning is the act of harvesting excess fresh produce from farms. Last year our “gleaners” and farm partners harvested almost 400,000 pounds of fresh produce which we then distributed to our neighbors in need!

Monika Crosby, Gleaning Manager, is grateful for the support. “Whether they grow food for us or produce extra that they cannot sell, our farm partners help us enhance meals through their donation of fresh and nutritious produce.” She is equally grateful to the volunteers “who come, rain or shine, with a smile on their face. Nearly 400 volunteers take a morning out of their day to help harvest and load produce over a four-month period.”

Grocers Against Hunger

An innovative partnership with local grocery stores, Grocers Against Hunger ensures nutritious food that would otherwise go to waste stays in the communities where it's needed. Through this program, we rescue 10 million pounds of food annually.

Charlene Fitzwater runs the food closet at The Church of the Good Samaritan, a Philabundance agency in Paoli which participates in Grocers Against Hunger. She says she and her clients value the partnership: "We really appreciate what Philabundance does — we couldn't do what we do without your support."

KidsBites

Research indicates that children who do not receive proper nourishment are unable to thrive physically, emotionally or academically. KidsBites is a Philabundance program that helps ensure that kids have the food they need to thrive and grow.

This critical distribution occurs twice monthly at Lowell Elementary School in Olney. It provides free food, including produce, to the families of enrolled students — many of whom qualify for free or reduced-price lunches. Last year we reached more than 1,500 people through this needed program.

Janay appreciates this program, which is available at her daughter's school: "We wouldn't have enough to eat without KidsBites."

Philabundance Community Kitchen

Our North Philadelphia-based culinary arts vocational training program supplies more than 250,000 critically-needed meals to agencies and emergency kitchens throughout the year.

It also gives a second chance to many low-income adults who learn valuable work and life skills through a 14-week training program. Many students cite PCK as a life-changing program.

Before being accepted into PCK, Rodney Cherry had minimal cooking experience and had been incarcerated. Despite those hurdles, he was an exceptional student, exhibiting studious conduct and a natural passion and talent for cooking.

Due to his stellar attendance, grades and overall culinary performance, he was offered an internship at a Stephen Starr restaurant and, upon graduation, secured a position working under the sous chef at Pairings restaurant in New Jersey. In addition, Rodney enrolled in Union County College to take classes focusing on Hospitality and Business Management.

Rodney credits the Philabundance Community Kitchen for his success, "I can never thank you enough for investing in my life."

Our Partner Agencies

Philabundance serves more than 90,000 people each week in nine counties in Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey through our direct service programs and through partnerships with 350 agencies, which include emergency kitchens, shelters and soup kitchens.

One agency is The Open Link, in Montgomery County.

The Open Link is a multi-service agency serving 3,000 people a year in the greater Upper Perkiomen Valley where twenty-two percent of children in the school district are eligible for reduced-price or free lunches.

Crystal, an Open Link client, says, “Places like The Open Link offer hope, not just help.”

Crystal is a single mom who takes care of her six-year-old daughter, as well as the two sons of her friend who is taking refuge at a women’s shelter. She thinks of this agency as a blessing for her and her neighbors in Montgomery County.

“If it weren’t for places like this, a lot of people would starve.”

Crystal relies on The Open Link for resume help, job search services and the food pantry, which not only supplies food, but also household items, such as diaper cream.

“I’m making it through because The Open Link is here for me. The Open Link staff are wonderful, warm people. I’m not sure if they’ve been through what I’ve been through, but it feels like they have — it feels like a second home.”

Our Valued Volunteers

We are grateful to more than 15,000 volunteers a year who save us more than $1.5 million in salaries — savings we put back into feeding the community. Thanks to our generous individual and corporate volunteers who help us pack, sort and distribute food to help serve the 750,000 hungry individuals in the Delaware Valley. We couldn't do it without you.

Sheri Howard volunteers weekly at the Hunger Relief Center, sorting and packing food that goes out to some of the hungry neighbors in our community. Sheri has faced hunger insecurity in the past, and wanted to give back because she knows the importance of what Philabundance does.

"People who live across the street don't have the benefit of food on the table every night," she says sadly.

The Tuesday night shift fits into her busy schedule as a realtor. "I look forward to volunteering every week,"

Once-a-month family nights allow her to bring her son, Kyseer, with her. "It's a great bonding moment." Sheri says.

Kyseer also loves volunteering, and he often tells his classmates about it. Sheri is proud of the work they're doing together, and she's a proud mom, instilling in him the value of giving back: "I bring him because I want him to have a charitable heart."

BEET HUNGER BASH

Celebrating 30 Years of Philabundance Bashing Hunger

On November 7, 2014, more than 560 guests joined us to help drive hunger from our communities at the Philabundance Beet Hunger Bash at the Simeone Foundation Automotive Museum.

We brought our mission to life through an array of interactive exhibits offered during the cocktail hour while our guests enjoyed appetizers from top restaurants and donated wine, beer and spirits.

During the family-style dinner, guests were treated to a short program which included singing, dancing, and an original and moving spoken word performance, followed by remarks from interim Executive Director Mark Bender, Board members Murvin Lackey and Tracy Davidson and from Founder and Board member, Pamela Rainey Lawler.

The night ended on a sweet note with dessert from our very own Philabundance Community Kitchen.

Thanks to our Bash sponsors for helping us beet our goal of providing over 500,000 meals!

FISCAL YEAR 2015 HIGHLIGHTS

In Other News...

Philabundance welcomed key senior-level staff who have helped improve efficiencies, visibility and financial stability of the organization, as well as helped move our strategic plan forward:

- Mike Basher joined Philabundance in December 2014 as the Vice President of Retail Operations for Fare & Square
- The Board of Directors selected Glenn Bergman as the Executive Director of Philabundance. He began his new position on June 1, 2015
- Mark Wilson, Vice President of Finance, Chief Financial Officer, began his new position at Philabundance in September 2015

Mike Basher, Glenn Bergman, Mark Wilson

The American Institute of Baking (AIB), an organization which conducts Feeding America-mandated performance audits for food handling facilities, inspected Philabundance in December 2014 and gave our South Philadelphia Hunger Relief Center a superior rating of 940 out of 1000!

Through a new, innovative collaboration between PCK and The Community College of Philadelphia (CCP), PCK students who complete the program receive eight credits toward the Culinary Certificate Program at CCP — an equivalent value of one thousand dollars. It allows students not only to get a head-start on their Professional Cooking Certificate, but it also affords them another opportunity to continue their education, and build their skills, confidence and networks.

As a lead agency, Philabundance helped form the MontCo Anti-Hunger Network (MAHN), a partnership among Philabundance and five Montgomery County food pantries (Catholic Social Services, Manna on Main Street, The Open Link, Keystone Opportunity Center and Pottstown Cluster of Religious Communities). Its goal is to increase access to healthy food in all communities within Montgomery County. With first-year funding from the North Penn Community Health Foundation — now HealthSpark Foundation — MAHN conducted a county-wide pantry capacity assessment and held a food provider conference to organize pantries' collective efforts. This model may be replicated in other counties to help end hunger forever.
